Required Curriculum/Textbook and Course Materials

Required Textbook: In an effort to reduce costs for students, there is only one book associated with this course- the Cengage MindTap Handbook, 1st Edition, which is an electronic book. You can purchase this electronic book through the NFC virtual bookstore (click here for a direct link to the book)

Cengage Mindtap English Handbook, with APA 7e Updates, First Edition

ISBN: 9781305403338

If more than one course is using Cengage, you may prefer to purchase Cengage Unlimited. See NFC Online Bookstore for details.

For textbook questions, please contact bookstore@nfc.edu

Required Course Materials/Supplies: Wi-Fi Access, Paper, Pen, Folder for materials, dedicated workspace.

Minimum Technological Requirements and Skills: Students are required to maintain access to D2L via the NFC website and check it consistently.

I do not accept emailed assignments. In addition, access to a word processor software such as Microsoft Word or Google Docs is necessary. All students have free access to Microsoft Office programs. Students may access these programs via the NFC website. Contact Computer Services with any difficulties with access. With the heavy use of the internet and word processing software, it is strongly recommended that students utilize a computer not a smartphone. Limitations placed on a student utilizing a smartphone instead of a computer are not considered a legitimate excuse for any difficulties arising during the course. The primary mode of communication outside of D2L is email, so ready access to your NFC GoMail is recommended

Grading Policy and Assessment Methods

- 15% - Cengage
- 10% - Participation (In-class assignments)

- 25% - Writing Process (Draft, Annotated Bibliography, Planning document)
- 50% - Final Essay Submissions (2 Research Essays)

Grade Scale and Credit Requirements: In order to earn three credit hours for this course, students must earn an average grade of “C” or higher.

A = 100 - 90 B = 89 – 80 C = 79 – 70 D = 69 – 60 F = 59 and below

At minimum, students should check their course grades weekly and their email daily.

Letter/Numerical Grade Philosophy for Writing Assignments: An “A” represents total mastery of and excellence in all areas of a writing assignment according to the rubric.* While a “100/A” can be more readily obtained in objective assessments (i.e. multiple choice), the grades of writing assignments are more subjective, and even with the use of rubrics, a “100/A” is fairly unattainable. Therefore, students who perform with total mastery often receive 95s and 90s on their writing assignments. Depending on the varying degrees of mastery, students may receive 89, 85, or 80 numerical scores for above average “B” work. In a similar fashion, “C” grades of 79, 75, or 70 indicate basic mastery, but the writing represents minimum effort, or it may be lacking in some areas. D and F scores show that the student has not mastered the requirements of the assignment or has not included some or all of the components of an assignment. Numerically, D papers often earn a 65 and F papers earn a 59.

The Writing Process and Revision: This course is designed to build on the writing process established in ENC 1101. At the college level, this process includes prewriting, research, note taking, drafting, revising, editing, and proofreading. For the research papers, this will include considerable time on revision. Revision is not merely looking for spelling and grammar errors; it is a process by which the student adheres to feedback provided and examines his/her main ideas, evidence, and analysis. This may require the student to add, delete, change and/or reorganize his/her writing. It requires critical thinking skills, time, and effort. This practice must take place in order for students to develop as writers, to become proficient at the college level, and ultimately pass this course.

*Specific rubrics are used in order to determine various writing assignment scores. Those rubrics will be made available when the assignment is given.

Mid Term and/or Final Exam Information: There is not a midterm or a final exam. This course has three main writing assignments that serve as the cornerstones of the course.

Acceptance of late work:

Assignments will be accepted late with a deduction of ten points per every 24 hours.

Writing Process Assignments, such as rough drafts, must be submitted by the due date in order to receive detailed instructor feedback. Drafts submitted after the due date will not be reviewed without an appointment during office hours

If you have a documented excuse or need accommodations, please see me as soon as possible.

If you are concerned about your grade, please see me as soon as possible.

NFC Course Policy Statements

Statement about unauthorized collaboration:

Students may not utilize work created by other students, non-students, or any form of artificial intelligence without permission. All ideas, images, or writing created by generative technology or by a person other than the student must be properly identified via appropriate citation format.

This course utilizes Turnitin on all major assignments to assist in the detection of plagiarism including the presence of AI generated writing. All major essay assignments must be submitted through the Turnitin-enabled dropboxes in D2L.

Disciplinary Procedure:

Any assignment found to be in violation of the academic dishonesty policies stated in this syllabus and/or in the Student Code of Conduct either through software detection programs, such as Turnitin, or through any other evaluative tool will result in an automatic zero for the assignment and reporting of the incident to Academic Affairs.

Statement about “No Show” policy for online courses:

At the beginning of the semester, the instructor must report “no show” students for this course. “No show” indicates the student will be removed from the course. Students will be prompted to complete the Mandatory Attendance quiz by the deadline as given on the course schedule; this quiz will verify students’ attendance in the course.

NFC Information and Policy Statements

Academic Honesty

NFC is committed to providing a high-quality educational experience to all students, and students are expected to follow appropriate and honest academic practices. This information is available in the Academic Regulations section of the college catalog at www.nfc.edu. All cases of academic dishonesty will be reported to the Office of Academic Affairs.

Instructors use www.turnitin.com to review papers and projects for improper citation and/or plagiarism by comparing each student's report against billions of internet pages, a repository of works submitted to Turnitin in the past, and thousands of academic sources. A comparison document called the Similarity Report details the areas of a student paper that may have been documented incorrectly or used improperly. Refer to instructor's course policy statements for usage details.

Attendance Policy

Regular and consistent attendance facilitates student success. Absences beyond the equivalent of two weeks of class are considered to be excessive and thus may impact a student's course grade. Typically, two weeks of class would be described as follows:

- For a three-credit hour class that meets MW or TR: 4 class meetings (2 weeks).
- For a three-credit hour class that meets once a week for three hours: 2 class meetings (2 weeks).

Students are responsible for material covered during their absence. Refer to instructor makeup policy.

If there is no verifiable participation within the first week of the term, a student will be dropped from the class for non-attendance. This includes classes delivered in face-to-face, online, or hybrid format. See instructor policy.

Textbook Purchases

All required course materials are listed in the Virtual Bookstore tab on NFC's homepage. Course materials purchased through Follett, NFC's only contracted vendor, can be charged against a student's financial aid account. Course materials may also be purchased from any other source with the understanding that these non-Follett purchases cannot be charged against a student's financial aid account.

Used Book Purchases

Students should check the Follett book list found in the Virtual Bookstore tab on NFC's homepage for correct titles and editions. Note: The ISBN listed in Follett may include both the required text and a required access code. When considering purchasing used books, students should be sure the purchase includes the ACCESS CODE in courses where required. If not, the access code must be purchased separately at an additional cost.
